DELEGATES IN STANDING VOTE CONDEMN BORDEN GOVERNMENT AS INCOMPETENT, INEFFICIENT

Premier Sifton Of Alberta Presents Resolution To Liberal Convention Which Meets Unanimous Approval—Declares That There Had Been Partisanship In Raising Of Canadian Forces.

Winnipeg, Aug. 4.—Condemnation of the Borden government as a war administration was expressed by the delegates to the convention at the last business before this morning's session. The delegates applauded loudly a resolution bearing the unanimous endorsement of the resolutions committee and moved by Hon. A. L. Sifton. President Sifton declared that the Borden government to be incompetent, inefficient and unworthy of support.

Incompetent, inefficient. Premier Sifton said he had seen given him by the committee a resolution dealing with the present government, a resolution which had carried the approval of the convention. He declared that the convention had declared on record its "most complete disappointment" in the administration of the Borden government. The resolution charged the Borden government with "incompetence, inefficiency, and mismanagement" on the resolution. The delegates stood without any exception, so far as could be ascertained, in hearty approval, and vigorously and gave three cheers for Alberta's premier.

PREMIER SIFTON'S RESOLUTION

The resolution moved by Premier port in a standing vote reads as follo

"This convention of the Liberals of the four western provinces of the Dominion of Canada, assembled at Regina for the purpose of assisting in the solution of the many serious problems made manifest by the recent election, feels compelled to place on record its sincere and hearty approval of the administration of the Borden govern

Sifton and accorded unanimous support and the conduct of the national struggle for freedom and existence can be characterized as brave and unworthy in the highest degree. It is the wish of this convention that the people of the Dominion have sought from the outset to make the Government of Canada the possessor of the prerogative of one political party and that the actual administration of the Canadian people, and an instrument

"Any intent to arrogate to one section of the people the monopoly of the prosecution, the right of trial, and the right of punishment for selfish political advantage, rather than for the true interests of the nation, is a crime."

"Because it has exhibited gross incompetency and inefficiency in the face of the great crisis."

"Because it has substituted partisan selfishness for honor and fair dealing; because it has displayed a want of leadership in its councils and disaffection has taken the place of firmness; because it has shown a lack of efficiency in execution."

"We condemn it as no longer entitled to the confidence of the Canadian people."

Freight Charges and Spoilage Cause of High Cost of Fruit Here

Wholesalers Tell Why Edmonton Pays More For Delicacies Than People Who Live Elsewhere; Argument Called Unavailing.

"Arguing about the high cost of living is just like arguing about religion.. It doesn't get you anywhere."

So spoke Charles W. L. Mackelvie, manager of the Brown Fruit Company, who was approached Tuesday afternoon for his views concerning the charges made in various letters to the newspapers to the effect that fruit in Edmonton was priced out of all proportion to its value.

Mackelvie stated and maintained that any definite figures published concerning these costs would only leave the fruit men open to further harrying and questioning by the public.

The manager of the Scott Fruit Company was also visited. "I can endorse anything Mr. Mackelvie says," he volunteered when told of the object of the call. "The fruit people are being unfairly singled out for attack. Why don't some of these folk go after the hardware merchant and the boot and shoe man?"

ures of transportation costs and loss we suffer from shrinkage but the worst of this is that it will start an insuperable controversy and we never hear the end of it. It's just like some of these controversies in the history of the church, the value of Christian Science. The debate would last forever and nobody would ever get off," observed Mr. Mackelvie.

The Daily Poem

DEATH
To die is but to sleep,
Tis but the swing of a door
Which Christ in His own hand doth keep.

The entrance into life for evermore.

To die is but to bid our friends good-night.

To leave them for a little longer here.

To wait for them within the golden gates.

To join another band of loved ones dear.

To die is like the raindrops,
Lost in the ocean of God's love.

To be found in yonder dazzling rainbow
Set in the clouds above.

To die is like the flower which folds
Its petals.

When the darkness draweth nigh.
To expand in greater beauty.

When the morning sun is high.

To die is to be absent from the body.
But present with the Lord.

Death is the way to perfect life.
Just a narrow stream to ford.

Humor, not always intentional, was noticeable during the air raid. "Service, Sacrifice, Success" Is Slogan Of Consumers' League

"Sacrifice, Service, Success" is the slogan adopted by the Consumers' League for the Conservation of Food campaign which will be commenced with a mass meeting held in McDougall church on Thursday evening, August 16th. The appeal of the League is summed up in these three words. "Personal sacrifice is necessary if we would serve the nation in bringing the war to a successful conclusion. War now is ceaseless study of ways and means to exist, and the men and women of Edmonton should not be backward in assuming their share of this study," says the League.

The question of food conservation will be discussed from various practical standpoints, and a representative of the provincial board which is working in conjunction with the Federal Food Controller will outline the plans of the government to handle the problem.

The question is considerably involved, in that the rules of social etiquette have not been closely observed. It is not to be understood that the extent to which you cannot stand on ceremony to any degree, and though the mother and daughter have not been called, they probably do not think it necessary to observe formalities have been observed before and friendship having existed for a year or so, it would therefore seem queer to expect it now.

WM. FARNUM, in a massive product ion, "The Price of Silence," showing at the Empress theatre for three days, starting today.

overdoing the part just how greatly she is tormented by conflicting emotions.

And when she dies in the fire one can almost hear the crackling of the ragged clothes as they burn about her. One of the most wonderful things about this production is the coloring, which is nothing short of marvelous. The effects used in the fire that consumes Joan of Arc make the flames so realistic that it is hard to believe that they are only photographs.

EMPRESS—A stirring plea for the little slaves of the factory is told in "The Price of Silence," the big picture which is at the

Empress theatre today, with the renowned

William Farnum in the leading role, that of a senator, who makes it his mission in life to see that the rights of the little children are theirs. The scenes show him in the legislative halls of the government

fighting their battle, and the government buildings at Sacramento, the capital of California were used for the making of these scenes. The picture is a most interesting and powerful one, showing the actual conditions under which two millions of America's future fathers and mothers are forced to grind out a daily existence of toil, in ill-ventilated and dusty factories. It is said that when "The Price of Silence" did for the negro slave of the South, it will do for the child slave. Certain it is that it is a powerful arrangement of the evil, showing with terrifying truth the infamy of making the black shamelessness of this misbegotten greed, and is destined to give the wave of reaction the push that is needed to sweep child slavery from America forever. The law against it at the present time leaves the prerogative with each individual state, although it prohibits inter-state traffic in goods made by children. The law has been attacked in the supreme court as unconstitutional, and the question is still unsettled. But to convince the people from buying child-made goods, this crusade has been inaugurated, and the law has been attacked in the

WINNIPEG HEARS CROP IMPROVES

Line Elevator Companies Say It is Better Than Ten Days Ago.

TRADING IS LIMITED

All Markets Featureless; Chicago Closes in Listless Fashion.

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—Trading in both the cash and future markets was slow today and transactions were light. Cash wheat and oats continued to be in good demand, and prices for wheat trading below the maximum were stronger. There was a revival of demand for oats of all grades but rejected and prices were firmer. There was very little offering of any kind of grain.

Quietness in the future market was due in some measure to dealers waiting for the United States government report, which was expected to be a bearish statement. Southern wheat markets were dull for the same reason, while oats were weakened by continued favorable threshing returns.

Reviewing the Western Canadian crop situation a prominent member of the Exchange stated that reports being received by the largest of the line elevator companies show much improvement compared with ten days ago. While the prospects are not glowing, he says, they are distinctly more encouraging, and the weather of the past week will add a bushel per acre to the expected yield.

As to the market, he says, receipts naturally are light, as the old crop is being cleaned up. The demand for wheat and oats is credited to eastern domestic milling and government agency business, easily absorbing all daily offerings. He looks for the cash demand to continue steady with receipts growing steadily until the new crop becomes a factor.

There was no official opening in Winnipeg yesterday when the market opened at 10 o'clock.

Oats opened 1/2 cent lower for October at 6 1/2.

Chicago wheat opened 1/4 cent up for September at 22 1/2. This was the only opening in the American wheat market.

There were 341 cars of grain inspected at Winnipeg, of which 36 cars were contract.

The weather was generally fair and clear. Rain is reported at all points in Southern Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1917.

Sir Robert Borden met the gravest crisis Canada ever faced by proposing to disfranchise the public. The Liberals met it by calling a great convention, in order to find out from the public what ought to be done to put the whole strength of the country into the war.

The difference in striking. It is not incidental. It is essential. It discloses the fundamental principles upon which the two great parties are based, and which determine the line of cleavage between them. It is, in the nature of things, what might be expected. Had there not been such difference it would have meant that one party or the other had abandoned its principles and ignored its traditions.

The Conservative leader mistrusts the people; the Liberals trust the people. That is the basic fact of the situation. Sir Robert holds that he governs by delegated authority; that, either because of ignorance or disloyalty, the public would not at this time approve him and his measures; therefore it is his part to govern without reference to popular opinion—even to carry out his measures by depriving the public of a chance to express their opinions. So, he enacted conscription by arbitrary means; and proposed that parliament should disfranchise the public, re-elect itself, and "carry on" in disregard of the popular will.

Liberals hold that the people are entitled to be trusted. Also that they can be trusted to do their duty in this time of national peril, as at all other times. They do not concede that the honor or safety of the nation require that representative government be suspended and replaced by an autocratic administration. They believe that the security and prestige of the country rest in the hands of its citizens, and must depend upon their patriotic resolution. They have no faith that any superior wisdom or superior loyalty attaches to a system of irresponsible government, such as would justify the setting aside of the public right and the assumption of irresponsible authority by the Ministers. They hold that in time of stress, even more than in time of peace, the interests of the nation demand that the Government be held to account for incompetence, and dismissed when it is proven.

Holding these views, Liberals in Parliament contended that the public should be given a chance to express their opinions when so radical a departure was proposed as the enforcement of conscription; they opposed and prevented the disfranchisement of the electors and the extension of the term of the present self-elected House of Commons; and they called a convention of Liberal representatives of the four western provinces, to get an expression of public opinion as to what measures are necessary to make the strength of Canada count for the utmost in the struggle. The response to the call, the enthusiasm shown, and the range of resolutions adopted are all the justification needed of the Liberal contention that the safety and good name of Canada may be safely entrusted to the people, and do not require for their preservation any autocratic assumption of power by the Government. The convention has made plain beyond anyone's question that so far as the Liberals of the West are concerned all the men, money and resources of Canada are to be utilized to the best possible advantage to win, and to win as quickly and as decisively as possible. Sir Robert Borden to the contrary, the public are to be trusted.

Government regulation of prices would give the patriotic citizen a chance to eat what the Government wants him to eat.

Nationalization of Canadian railways carried out on the lines of the proposed Mackenzie and Mann deal discloses an uncomfortable prospect that by the time we got through nationalizing the public would have little left but the railways. As between the two it would pay the public better to keep the country and let the companies keep the railways, than to swap.

Now that the Big Business element has decided to supplant Sir Robert Borden by Sir Clifford Sifton as the dominating personage in the Dominion Government, it would seem time for Sir Herbert Ames to get out his blanket and his magic lantern and his fishing pole once again and refresh the public memory as to the sort of administration of public affairs that could be looked for under Sir Clifford's direction.

Mr. Baker, the United States Secretary for War, hopes that Canada and the United States will be brought into better relations by fighting side-by-side against the common enemy. It seems a reasonable prospect, and a most desirable development. May we even hope that as the result of our common sacrifices the time will come when no great party in Canada will think it treason to let our farmers sell hogs and barley in the United States?

Paris reports that French airmen have been raining bombs on towns in the far interior of Germany, in reprisal for the bombing of French towns. Does anybody think worse of France, or its army, for defending their people by teaching the enemy that it does not pay to murder them? And French towns, it will be noted, are comparatively immune from this sort of outrage. Berlin banks on England not making reprisals, and sends out its baby-killers with assurance born of experience that there is no punishment for their crimes.

The agitation for an upward revision of the pension scale is getting very ready support from the public in this city. It is likely getting, and will get, as ready support elsewhere, as it ought. The present allowances are not sufficient to maintain the disabled soldier and his family, or the widow and children of the dead soldier, in the position of independent decency to which they are entitled. These men enlisted in absolute confidence that in the event of wounds or death the country would take care of them and their families. We must either provide them with an income proportioned to the cost of living or betray that confidence.

The Canadian Northern stock in possession of Mackenzie and Mann is not their personal property. It belongs to the Canadian Northern System, and is covered knee-deep with bonds issued to get money to build the road; which bonds should be paid with the proceeds of the stock when it becomes saleable. Mackenzie and Mann locked this stock in the safe, calculated to keep it and to meet the bonds out of the earnings of the road. Their frenzied finance has broken down the whole enterprise and thereby "dished" their scheme to commandeer the stock. But why should the country be made compensate them because their freebooting operations collapsed?

CHINA WILL ESCAPE DEBTS
Amsterdam, Aug. 8.—Austria-Hungarian newspapers, according to a telegram from Vienna, view China's declaration of war as the work of the enemy, especially President Wilson. It is aimed as a blow at German and Austria-Hungarian business interests in China and to oust two troublesome trade competitors by furnishing the Chinese with a pretext not to pay their debts, rescind railway and mining concessions granted to Austrians and Germans, confiscate Austro-German capital invested in the country, seize their ships and intern their subjects, the newspapers say.

POLES SCORN AUSTRIAN BURE
Copenhagen, Aug. 7, via London, Aug. 8.—A Vienna dispatch to the Berlin Kreuz Zeitung says that the sentiment at a meeting of the Polish Club recently was against the participation of Poles in the Austrian ministry. Dr. von Seyler, the premier, therefore has been forced to drop his plan for forming a parliamentary ministry from a bureaucratic source. It is not expected, the dispatch adds, that the cabinet will be able to deal with the reform problem, and its life may be shortened.

Current Comment

APPORTIONMENT OF MEN.
Dr. Clark at Hamilton, July 17: Compulsory Service, said Dr. Clark, was as necessary for telling who should go to the front. He appealed to the business men to bear him witness that it was in their power to place their employees where they pleased. This was the only sensible means of doing national business.

PARTY LEADERSHIP
Truth to tell, Sir Robert has not shown himself to be a strong leader. He has many admirable qualities but lacks a certain firmness that is necessary in leading a party in Canada. He permitted Sir Sam Hughes to have his fling too long. He allowed Hon. Robert Rogers to indulge too flagrantly in the methods that are out of touch with the times. He has been handicapped by the alliance with the Quebec Nationalists. There has been too much display of the "wait and see" policy that forced Asquith out of the premiership in Britain.

What is the way out? One alternative, which looks inevitable in an election, The probabilities are that Sir Robert Borden will go to the country on the issue of conscription. There is some chance of reorganizing the government by taking in some conscriptionist Liberals. For heaven's sake, let us do it.

WILL IT LESSEN PRODUCTION?
From the Canadian Farmer:
There is considerable apprehension as to the effect the report issued by the labor department at Ottawa upon the bacon trade will have upon hog production. Farmers as a class, it must be admitted, have been suspicious of the packer for some years. Whether they have had just grounds for their distrust of the packing industry is difficult to say. At any rate, the O'Connor report will not tend to remove that distrust. The statements, however, issued by the packing industries concerned, though revealing another side to the story, are not as convincing as they might be.

NO ONE TO BLAME
From the Orange Sentinel (Conservative):
There came to our depot at St. John's letters of denunciation at the tardiness of the Government in some things, of their unwisdom in others, and without a note of sympathy or a constructive suggestion. The man who imagines that any set of rulers in the world could carry on the affairs of their country under the conditions of the past three years without making sad and costly blunders is surely a superficial thinker. The whole world has been thrown into confusion by the war. The conditions of the past three years have been such that no government could have carried on its business without making mistakes. The war has thrown upon some of the most serious problems of the world. It is not the fault of the Government that it has made mistakes. It is the fault of the war.

THE PROTECTORS
From the Toronto Star:
They are killing us off as fast as they can. They are killing the men in the trenches. They are killing the women in the munition factories. They are killing the workers who came into The Star office yesterday morning. We are working six days a week from seven till seven and on Sundays from seven till four, and now they want us to work fourteen hours a day by coming back three nights a week to work two extra hours. We just have half an hour for lunch and half an hour for supper.

Look at our hands, cried one black-eyed maiden, thrusting out hands blackened with oil and machinery, and from which the skin had peeled in big patches. They were saturated with oil, and told of removing oil-soaked garments at night to replace them in the morning because they had no time for laundry work. "One of the girls was too sick to come with us," they said. "She has been working five nights next week, and is just dying on her feet. The oil has got into her system."

"We refused to work the fourteen hours yesterday, and when we went in this morning we were told we could go. We are going to see the Mayor about it."

The deputation then went up to the Mayor's office, but he was not in and they were referred to the Imperial Munitions Board. Sir Joseph Flavel, supervisor of female labor in munition factories, was out of town. Mr. Mark Irish, to whom the deputation was then referred, had not time today to make public the result of the interview.

One Dropped Dead
"There was one of us dropped dead on the street car the other day," said one of the deputation, "though they had no time for laundry work. The oil has got into her system."

This is only one small bit of the great cry that is beginning to go up from Canadian women in munition work.

GERMAN AIRMEN INTERNED
Flushing, Holland, Aug. 8.—A German seaplane stopped a Dutch fishing boat near Westkapelle. One of the airmen went aboard and ordered the boat to Zebruggen. While still in territorial waters a Dutch patrol vessel met and brought the boat to Flushing. The German airmen were interned.

Only One Qualification.
Cholly—What qualifications must a fellow have to join your club, old dear?

Chilton—Well, he's got to have either brains or money.

Chilton—Him! How are you fixed for money?

Extravagant.
London Child—I say, mother, isn't it extravagant of Mrs. Brown-Smythe in these times? She had two babies at once—Sketch.

Affects Cells.
Gibbs—They say that alcohol has an effect on the cells of the brain.

A Heavy Tip
Excited Passenger—I left $100 under my pillow. Did you see anything of it?

Pullman Porter—Yeah; much obliged for the tip, yeah.

Had No Use For It.
"Josiah," said Mrs. Hawbuck, "I hope you kept your head while you were in New York."

"I did, Martha," was the humble reply; "but I guess it was only because none of them sharpened had any use for it."

Qualified.
She (romantically)—The man I marry must be willing to go through fire for me.

He—Then I'm your man. The boss has fired me for telephoning you so often.

Had Many Wives
"Your wife seems the sort of woman who is bound to have the last word," declared the stockbroker.

"I wouldn't mind that; the trouble is she is also bound to have 99 per cent. of the words that precede it."

No Bother
Kindly Student—How's your boy Josh getting along with his studies?

"Pleasantly," replied Farmer Cornsfoot. "He don't bother 'em none."

An Aid In Trouble
"It's when a man is in trouble that he realizes the value of a wife."

"Sure! He can put all his property in her name."

A Real War Garden
"Have you got a war garden?" "Yes, a bigger one than I had last year."

"There were no war gardens last year."

"If you had seen the fights I had with my neighbor's rooster over my garden last year you would have called it a war garden."

Getting On Well
"How's your garden getting along?"

"All right. I haven't interfered with it yet."

Can Tell a Lie
"My wife is like George Washington: I don't believe she could tell a lie to save her soul."

"I don't believe she could tell a lie to save her soul."

Will Quell All Disorders
Montreal, Aug. 8.—Mayor Marin issued a proclamation today in which he warns the people that any attempt at disorder when the conscription act is passed will be rigidly prosecuted and those taking part therein will be severely punished. The people he says must trust to their defenders here and Ottawa. "The demagogues in Quebec politically would like nothing better than for anarchy to break out. The mayor urges the people to trust in Laurier, who, he says, will be restored by the Winnipeg convention."

Somewhere In France
God! How the guns keep their debate infernal.
By Vimy Ridge and Arras' bloody line; While Gallie Mortars storm with death the quarters.
Of Trench and horror-haunted mine.
Loud boom the shells in curtain fire descending.
Full on the front of the dread dead advance.
So what is it that one form reels and plunges
Somewhere in France?

And what is it that the deep stars burn—
One life is lifted, cold and calm and white?
That like a leaf one form has been forgotten?
Lost in the terror of the shuddering night?
While boom the tanks and stream the lird heavens.
In all the guns of war's red flames; They do not guess how much has perished with him.
Somewhere in France.
They will not know of trysts all sweet and tender.
When English moons on English valleys were fair.
Nor of a breast to wait and sigh and wait.
In the dread power of a wild despair.
And how her white hands will be lifted—
While tears shall dim her blue eyes' burning glance.
Because of love's still and unreturning.
Somewhere in France.
The guns shall cease, the grass shall heal the trenches
With green forgiveness, and the winds
Eternal requiems for the sons of women
Who, cooled of hate, so close together
And there the twilight in pathetic pleading
Shall touch the spot with kisses all in time.
Because a maiden's broken heart is buried
Somewhere in France.
—Gus Fitch Phelps.

Bulletin's Mail Bag

Letters on subjects of current or general interest will be published in this column. Each letter must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer, but such information will be treated as confidential if desired. Correspondents should remember that brevity is at all times desirable.

THE DOG NUISANCE

Editor The Bulletin:
Sir: A writer signing himself "Experience," I would suppose to be the owner of a big dog, or dogs. I ask the writer a question, "a supposition": If my friend was walking on a quiet road or street, on a dark night, having a substantial roll of paper in his pocket, which would tend to scare him most, a big burly man, 6 ft. 2 in. tall, or a little fellow who stands 5 ft. 3 in. in his shoes, and demands his roll? Yours truly,
"BIG AND SMALL DOG."

ENDORSES "CYCLIST"

Editor The Bulletin:
Sir: May I put in a word to heartily endorse the letter written by "Cyclist," published in your issue of Wednesday morning.

I would be only too glad to pay a license fee and carry a number plate (a brilliant idea, by the way, to help our city's poor financial condition), for the sake of preventing the stealing which has been going on so freely, but as for the suggested regulation as to keeping both hands on the handle bars and a speed limit restricted to ten miles an hour, one doesn't know whether to laugh or "gum."

I have used a bicycle for some years, both here and in England, and in a sensible, "safe and sane" fashion, and I object to being told that I am obviously mad for the exclusive benefit of motorists. Edmonton's roads are good, traffic is comparatively light and cycling would be a pleasure instead of a "get-off-the-earth" honking of some of the auto horns. I live near the Calgary trail, where autos exceed the speed limit all the time and yet the drivers are never brought to book. And now I see they are having speed contests between Edmonton and Seba Beach!

I suppose it is the same in this as in everything else—the sins of the few are visited upon the many. I have seen young lads amusing themselves by riding round and round the street corners, and I don't see anything and everybody. I can understand a motorist's viewpoint in regard to this but surely it can be stopped without inflicting such nonsensical restrictions upon the unoffending many.

ANOTHER CYCLIST.

INCOME TAX

Editor The Bulletin:
Sir: Many people were pleased to see the announcement in the press of the Dominion government's proposal to impose a tax on incomes. This is what most people meant when they said for the curbing of the wealth, and the government has apparently only very reluctantly responded to the insistent demand of the people for a more equitable distribution of the burden of the war.

The extraordinarily inadequate nature of the proposed tax, however, makes one doubt the genuineness of the government's intentions, as the following example will show:
Income Tax Table T-1
$100.00—$250.00 $4.00
$250.00—$500.00 $8.00
This is for married persons whose exemption is $3,000.

Income tax is one of the most expensive to collect and needs to be adequate if substantial benefit is to be gained. What is really needed is the raising of sufficient revenue to enable the government to pay the expenses of the war without recourse to further borrowing.

Canada is enjoying great prosperity now, and a period of the worst financial depression is to be undergone in the years following the termination of the war. All great wars have been followed by severe economic disturbances, and the best illustration is the period of twenty years after 1815. Whatever we pay out of income now so much will we lighten the burden of the future.

Yours faithfully,
C. L. RICHARDSON.

DEFENDS BALLET

Editor The Bulletin:
Sir: In reply to "A Protest" published in The Bulletin's Mail Bag on July 28th, I wish to state that I am not "some mother or guardian" or teacher of our youth, or some clergyman of our churches, or some member of those bodies, who aims to swell the wave of protest against the performance of those ballet girls."

On the contrary, I would like to ask the writer of the protest what she means by saying "There is no real ballet about it, as graceful dancing is always charming and attractive." These indecent performances, and again, "This ballet-girl insult." The reader is apt to believe that the writer is not keeping pace with the times in her ballet ideas.

The art of the ballet belongs to Russia and Russian ballet-dancing never escapes from its subjection to artistic ideas. The ballet is essentially an aristocratic institution, not to give immediate pleasure but to trouble and exert the imagination. In the older ballet the dancing was done on the points of the toes with the feet turned out and a strictly established system of steps, gestures and attitude was used. A certain degrading and vicious atmosphere surrounded the ballet of the old type, but the presence of men in the ballet has a vitalizing and regenerating influence. There is little of the primitive, the imitation of material movement, and still less of convention, in the modern ballet, but above everything, there is restraint. "Nothing must be taken too seriously," is the motto ever before the eye of the ballet artist.

Mr. Fokine has set out five rules for the new ballet and in order to attain these ideals, to bring their technique of dancing to the highest point, the Russian dancers must possess not only a power of interpretation but they must spend years in preparation. Their dancing becomes second nature and no thought is given to the physical part.

If the "real ballet" did not perform at the Edmonton exhibition, it was because of the impossible situation. No one could expect to see the stupendous setting and costumes of Leon Bakst from an exhibition ground. This, however, does not render the splendid expression of art secured by the management a "ballet insult." Nor can it be in justice or reason be called "indecent."

Surely we are becoming grossly matter-of-fact when we cannot appreciate the music of world-famed composers, and yet these composers, among whom are Debussy, Ravel, Reynaldo Hahn, Dukas, and Nijinsky, have written with the ballet as their direct inspiration.

Instead of protesting against the ballet, let us study it.

A. MOSQUITO.

TURK FLEET WAS IN ACTION

Athens, Aug. 8.—Official advices from Chios say the Turks have bombarded the island from Thessaloniki, and report of Asia Minor, forty miles from Smyrna, sinking four sailing vessels and slightly damaging the town and the aviation grounds.

ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Bulletin to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner. To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the questioner. This information is not wanted for publication but as an evidence of good faith.

Handling Geese.

To the Bulletin: To settle an argument will you please answer the following queries: 1. Was it a custom at any time in England to nail ducks to the floor for fattening purposes to save them running around. 2. Were geese shod in England at any time before the advent of trains for the purpose of walking to market.

J. D. W.

We are informed that geese were at one time shod to save their feet on the flint stone roads, particularly in Nottingham where an annual goose fair was held.

Regarding question one, we have no information, but it is quite probable they were kept in a limited area for fattening purposes.

Re B. C. Loans.

To the Bulletin: Please let me know where I can get information as regards this farmers' loan for live stock in British Columbia.

K. S.
Write to the Department of Agriculture, Victoria, B. C.

Conscription.

To the Bulletin: Please inform me if the American government will allow Canadians or British subjects to be conscripted there if they have left Canada or Old Country after war started? If so has Great Britain conscripted any yet?

A READER.

Manville, Aug. 3.
No arrangement has been made with reference to this as yet but the question has been discussed.

The Dower Act of Alberta.
To the Bulletin: Will you kindly give the conditions of the Dower Act in your "Answers" column?

JOAN.
This Act gives a wife a life interest in the interest of her husband in the homestead, and "homestead" is interpreted to mean "the land on which the house occupied by the owner thereof as his residence is situated, consisting of not more than one quarter section, such non-assessable restrictions upon the unoffending many."

The Act came into force on the first day of May, 1917, after which date a married man cannot transfer, sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of the homestead, as defined in the Act, without the consent in writing of the wife, and after said date every disposition by will of a married man and every devolution upon his death intestate shall as regards such homestead be subject and postponed to an estate for the life of such married man's wife.

The residence of a married man shall not be deemed to have been changed unless the change is consented to in writing by his wife.

When a wife executes any consent under this Act she must acknowledge same apart from her husband to have been executed by her of her own free will and without any compulsion on the part of her husband.

The Married Woman's Home Protection Act is repealed by this Act. The Act shall not apply to any disposition of a homestead already provided for by an agreement in writing.

BIGGEST CORN CROP IN HISTORY OF U.S.; WHEAT IS DECREASED

Washington, Aug. 8.—The largest crop of corn ever grown in the United States is in the making here, according to the department of agriculture's August crop report, issued today, showed corn prospects improved to the extent of 7,000,000 bushels during July, indicating a total production of 1,191,000,000 bushels.

Wheat, however, shows a decrease of 25,000,000 bushels. Spring wheat had a bad month, and decreased 40,000,000 bushels, but winter wheat, which indicated 35,000,000 bushels more than forecast in July. Wheat production, winter wheat and spring wheat combined, now is forecasted at 655,000,000 bushels.

U. S. SOCIALISTS STAY HOME
Washington, Aug. 8.—Secretary Lansing announces that the policy of the United States government has undergone no change with respect to withholding passports from Socialists and others desirous of leaving this country to attend international meetings for a discussion of peace aims and terms. Under this policy no passports will be issued for Americans to participate in the international Socialist conference to be held at Stockholm, Sweden, on September 9th.

Dolingham Pitched First Class Ball But He Got Little Support.

The G.W.G. defeated the North West Biscuit team to the tune of 8 to 2 at the Diamond park last night. Dolingham pitched first class ball for the G.W.G., only allowing four safe hits, but was very poorly supported by his team mates, who, as far as the scorers could tell, made ten errors.

Nearing also pitched excellent ball retiring nine men by the strike out route. The G.W.G. probably owe their victory to the errorless game they played.

Calanan is always up to some big league trick. Grant, at bat, had ten strikes, and three balls on him and two men were out. Dolingham started to wind up and "Cal" hit for home yelling "hit it Grant, smash it." Tod was in such a hurry to get the ball home that he threw wild, so "Cal" scored and Grant walked.

Evidently the league meeting on Wednesday evening had some effect on the teams for the game started at 7 o'clock sharp, and each team had all its players on hand.

The game this evening is between the Capitals and the Bedales, and it is rumored that there is "blood" in the air.

TAIT HAS EASY VICTORY OVER BENNY HASKELL

Except In Opening Round Lightweight Champion's Challenger Completely Outclassed.

WINNIPEG, May 8.—Clonie Tait, of Edmonton, the new Canadian lightweight champion, was the unanimous choice over Benny Haskell in the twelve-round bout held in the open air at Norwood Park baseball grounds tonight.

Except in the opening round, Haskell was completely outclassed.

The first round was even, Haskell was good at the fighting and landed often, but Tait came back strong with a nasty left and earned an even break.

The second and third sessions went off, and Tait kept shooting his left at Benny's face. Haskell was groggy well, which Benny could not fathom and he landed time and again without a return. Haskell woke up in the fourth and had the crowd on their feet with right and left smashes to the body. Tait finished strong, but Haskell won by a shade.

Haskell Groggy.
Haskell started the fifth with a spectacular crouch working his arms like a windmill. He landed hard on the champion's ribs, with no outward effect, and Tait kept shooting his left at Benny's face. Haskell was groggy well, which Benny could not fathom and he landed time and again without a return. Haskell woke up in the fourth and had the crowd on their feet with right and left smashes to the body. Tait finished strong, but Haskell won by a shade.

Tait's Wide Margin.
The next three rounds went to Tait by a wide margin. Haskell was strong at the opening, but weakened considerably as Tait got his left working to damaging effect. It looked as though Benny would be put away at any time now, but his wonderful stamina kept him on his feet against the fearful punishment. Haskell landed low in the tenth round, but the champion's claim was ignored by Referee Ben Foley.

Men Break Even in Eleventh.
Haskell's tenth round was in the eleventh. Toe to toe, the combatants stood and exchanged wallops, but Tait's blows were the most effective, although an eye break was all it was worth. The final session was Tait's. Haskell was wild and missed many chances to land, by recklessness. Tait connected a terrific left to the chin, which made Haskell cover up.

A Mail Boat
"What ship is that and where's she bound?" roared the skipper of the Sappho. "Never mind where we're bound!" roared back the skipper of the craft to windward. "And isn't this ship 'she'! This is the mail boat!"

Heavy Rainstorm Outs Short Grand Circuit Meeting—But Two Events Decided.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 8.—With two events finished and on heat of the 2:15 class pace ended, a heavy rainstorm fell this afternoon and forced a postponement of the remaining heats of the 2:15 pace until Thursday.

The Hotel Desher, 2:10 class pace, purse $3,000, was won by Ben Ali. His third heat in 2:03 1-4 was equal to his record and made necessary by the flight of speed of Pointer Queen in the stretch. Ben Ali had something in reserve, however, when the finish came.

The Buckeye Colt Trot, Open to Three year olds, was won by Ben Ali. In straight heats.

The well played favorite, W. L. Snow's Peter G., took the one heat in the 2:15 pace. The victory was an easy one.
